Categorical residents must take the USMLE/COMLEX Part 3 exam in the first twelve months of residency at the resident's expense. Call and clinical and educational work hours are consistent with ACGME standards, as applicable. Program Offices will provide residents with Program appropriate clinical and educational work hour policies and procedures (see Clinical and Educational Work Hour Policy).

Individual programs provide a description of the educational program, educational leave for upper-level residents, rotations, call responsibilities, and policies concerning leave, evaluation, reappointment, and advancement.

First year residents may not engage in extramural clinical activities ("moonlighting"). After successful completion of the first year, moonlighting may be permitted at a frequency and at locations approved by the Program Director and Carilion Clinic. All moonlighting hours must be reported in weekly clinical and educational work hour submissions. Residents are required to disclose moonlighting activities to their Program Director. Carilion Clinic's professional liability insurance does not cover such professional activities by residents when moonlighting outside of Carilion Clinic facilities. The DEA number for Carilion Medical Center is to be used for approved program activities and cannot be used for moonlighting. A resident must apply for a federal DEA license in order to practice outside the educational program (see Moonlighting Policy).

Carilion Clinic has formal policies for discipline and Redress of Grievances. Oversight is the responsibility of the Graduate Medical Education Committee. The discipline policies cover such things as academic remediation, administrative sanction, appeal process, institutional probation, institutional suspension, non-renewal of contract, and dismissal (see Discipline Policies and Redress of Grievances Policy).

Carilion Clinic has a formal policy prohibiting workplace harassment, including sexual harassment (see Harassment Policy).

Carilion Clinic has a Drug Free Workplace Policy. Residents undergo a post-offer health assessment, including a test for illegal drugs. A positive result may result in revocation of this appointment and immediate termination of this agreement (see Drug Free Workplace Protocol Policy).

Carilion Clinic recognizes the need for residents in Medical Education to occasionally request an extended period of time away from work during the course of employment. Carilion Clinic has a Leave of Absence Policy, including Family Medical Leave benefits applicable to residents. Taking a leave of absence may impact the resident's ability to achieve minimum program duration standards set by the applicable board, which may result in the need to extend the resident's training program (see Leave of Absence Policy).

Carilion Clinic provides residents and their families with an Employee Assistance Program ("EAP"). EAP offers a variety of counseling services, including family and personal counseling, stress management, and substance abuse. Carilion Clinic has a formal policy on Well-Being (see Well-Being Policy).

Carilion Clinic has a formal policy on resident and fellow impairment (see Impaired Resident and Fellows Policy).

In the event that Carilion Clinic would need to reduce the size or close a residency program, residents would be informed as soon as possible. For residents already in the program, Carilion Clinic would make every reasonable effort to allow the resident to complete their education or be assisted in enrolling in an ACGME accredited program in which they can continue their education (see Program Closure and Reduction Policy).

Carilion Clinic does not request or require residents to sign a Restrictive Covenant, guaranteeing non-competition (see Non-Competition Policy).

I have read, understand and agree to adhere to the applicable policies and procedures.
